Reporting Publications to the APS

POLICY

1 PURPOSE

Users are expected to notify the host beamline and the APS of publications resulting from work conducted here.

2 SCOPE

- This policy applies to all publications resulting from use of APS beam time.
- Work that does not result in publication must be reported as stated in Evaluation of Unpublished Research (Procedure # 3.1.45).

3 POLICY

Users will notify the host beamline and the APS of publications resulting from work conducted here. The APS Publications Database is a searchable compendium of information on published materials about (A) research carried out at APS beamlines, (B) research carried out by APS staff at the APS and elsewhere, and (C) research by authors from collaborative access teams that advances the field of synchrotron radiation science, but that is not the result of work at an APS beamline. It is the official source for listing APS-related publications, dissertations, abstracts, awards, and invited talks in order to produce a comprehensive record about research at the APS.

Users will acknowledge the APS and the appropriate beamline(s) when reporting results obtained at the APS.

Wording for acknowledgments and instructions for reporting publications are given on the home page of the APS Publications Database (<http://www.aps.anl.gov/News/Publications/>).
